About the Awards 关于大奖

About the Awards

The A&D Trophy Awards were created in 2004 to celebrate excellence in architecture, interior design and product design across Asia-Pacific and beyond, with a panel of expert local and international judges ensuring that only genuinely exceptional work is rewarded.

With a proven track record of recognizing architecture and design on an international scale, Perspective is glad to bring the A&D Trophy Awards to China this year.

Whether you're an architect, interior designer or product designer – or aspiring to join their ranks – you're only as good as your last project. If you do achieve a win, it will be with the knowledge that your work is truly outstanding in an exceedingly tough competition.

There are three levels of A&D Trophy Awards prizes to be won: 'Certificate of Excellence', 'Best of Category', and 'Best of the Best'.

Local and international architecture and design companies are invited to participate. The competition is open to:

- Architecture and interior design projects completed between 1 January 2016 and 30 June 2018 in Greater China.
- International architecture and interior design projects completed between 1 January 2016 and 30 June 2018, for entry into the International Architecture and International Interior Design categories.
- Products that are available for sale including through online platforms in Greater China.
- Products that are not available in Greater China, for entry into the International Product Design category.

The A&D China Awards ceremony will take place in Shenzhen – the exact date and venue will be released at a later stage.

The Judging Process & Criteria

PROFESSIONAL CATEGORIES

- ⇒ The total score is 30. A minimum score is required for a Certificate of Excellence. The Certificate of Excellence winner with the highest score in each category will be considered for the Best of Category award.
- ⇒ The highest scoring winners in Professional Architecture, Professional Interior Design, Professional Product Design and Student will be considered for the Best of the Best trophies.
- ⇒ To ensure the entries are competing to achieve a set of standard of excellence instead of within the pool of entries, a minimum score is required to qualify for every award.
- ⇒ Scoring will be based on the following:
 - ⇒ Main objectives of the client's brief and description of design solution (10 points)
 - ⇒ Description of key elements of design, material used, and how these contributed to the success of the design (20 points)
- ⇒ The judging process will take place online via the confidential A&D China Awards platform. Judges will have three weeks to review the entries, apply a predetermined scoring system to allocate points to specific entries. An average score will be calculated from the scores given by the judges.
